Dear Friends,

Hello yet again from our wee home in Scotland. Circumstances right now are difficult for many people, but we know that God is working for good in every situation. May the difficulties help us grow in our faith, grow in patience, and give us new opportunities to love our neighbours!

We continue to keep in touch with what is happening at PUST. Joan was able to finish her three weeks of classes left over from last semester. The final week was particularly exciting as she and 2 other teachers had online classes every day and were able to interact with the PUST students. The students all seemed healthy and happy, which was encouraging. One student personally greeted Joan and told her how much she was missed 😊

The new semester finally started on October 19th – six or seven weeks late – but it is underway. It looks like some of the Chinese staff may be allowed back to PUST next semester but for the rest of us, working and teaching will probably still be online for another semester.

Joan continues to teach online for Hebron school and has been enjoying the contact with school-aged children, albeit virtually. She has been asked if she could continue this for another semester. The hope is that the senior secondary students will return to school in January but there is no plan yet for junior secondary to return.

As well as some admin work, Daniel is preparing to teach two courses at PUST next semester. Presentation requirements have changed and there is always room for improvements. Daniel also continues to do voluntary work at “The Well” in Glasgow twice each week.

In family news, our daughter, Marty, recently got engaged to Rob. They are hoping to get married on December 22nd, God willing, with just a small ceremony. We’d value your prayers that the wedding will go ahead and we will all be able to attend!!

Prayer points:

- That we would be a blessing where we serve – PUST, The Well, Hebron School.
- For good preparation and presentation for Daniel’s lectures.
- That we might be allowed back to PUST soon.

Although it’s a little early, this letter comes to you with greetings for Christmas and prayers that God will make you a blessing wherever you are in the coming year.

Love,

Daniel and Joan
